SUPPORTING RASS
Supporting Families
Summer Edition

As we gear up to offer our full range of services and groups, we are looking to expand our client base by offering additional support over the summer to families in need. The Supporting Families Program provides short-term support to children, youth, and caregivers where there is a significant parent or caregiver stressor impacting family functioning.

Recommended for:

- Parent/caregiver mental health concerns
- Parent/caregiver substance use concerns
- High parenting stress or burnout
- Family transitions or instability
- Challenges accessing supports and services

Services include:

- Brief counselling
- Family support
- Parent consultation
- Goal setting and treatment planning
- Service navigation
- Community resource connection
- Future group participation

Ideal referrals include families who:

- ... could benefit from short-term support
- ... are waiting for longer-term services
- ... need help navigating systems and resources
- ... would benefit from future parent or children's group

Community partners are encouraged to share Supporting Families contact information with families who may benefit from additional support or to contact Jamie Whitehead, RCC, directly to discuss referrals. Jamie has over 18 years of experience working with children, youth, and families and is available to help families identify goals, navigate services, and connect with the supports that best fit their needs.
